Petition for Writ.

To the Honorable M. T. DOOLING, United States District Judge, in and for the Northern District of California, Now Presiding in the Above-entitled Court:

It is respectfully shown by the petition of Quan Hen:

That Quan You, otherwise known as Low June, hereinafter referred to as the detained, is unlawfully imprisoned, detained, confined and restrained of his liberty under the order of and by the direction of the Secretary of the Department of Labor by Edward White, Commissioner of Immigration for the Port of San Francisco at the Immigration Station at Angel Island, County of Marin, or at some other place within the State of Northern District of California, Southern Division thereof. That the said imprisonment, detention, confinement and restraint are illegal, and that the illegality thereof consists in this, to wit:

That it is claimed by the said Secretary and the said Commissioner that the detained is an alien Chinese person who has been found within the United States in violation of the provisions of a law of the United States, to wit, the Chinese Exclusion or Restriction Laws or Acts, and that he was therefore subject to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came under section 21 of the Immigration Act approved February 20, 1907. [3]

That the said Commissioner now holds the said detained in custody under a warrant of deportation of the said Secretary of Labor, within the State and Northern District of California, Southern Division thereof, and it is the purpose and intention of the said Commissioner to execute the said warrant of deportation by causing the detained to be deported upon the SS. "China," sailing from the port of San Francisco, at 1:00 o'clock P. M. on October 10, 1916, and unless this Court intervene the said detained will be carried away from his domicile within the United States, and deprived of his rights, as in this petition hereinafter expressly set forth.

Your petitioner alleges that the detained does not come within the restrictions or provisions of said Immigration Act. But on the contrary your petitioner alleges at the finding of said Secretary of Labor that the detained violated the Chinese Exclusion and Restriction Acts by presenting what the Secretary claims to be fraudulent proof of his said exempt status, is in excess of the jurisdiction, powers and authority of the said Secretary, and particularly in violation of the Chinese Exclusion and Restriction Acts, which said acts provide that Chinese persons found unlawfully within the United States shall be arrested and accorded a trial before a United States Justice, Judge or Commissioner; and that the said Secretary of Labor is not one of the judicial officers enumerated in said acts as having authority to determine the question of the legality or illegality of the residence of a Chinese person charged with being illegally within the United States. Your petitioner further alleges that the action of the said Secretary of Labor in assuming jurisdiction over the said detained and in issuing said warrant of deportation acted in violation of the provisions of Section 43 of the said General Immigration Laws hereinbefore more particularly described. [4]

Your petitioner further alleges upon his information and belief that the said detained is a Chinese person, lawfully domiciled within the United States of America. That the said detained person was engaged in business, as a merchant and member of the firm of Hing Kee & Co., which was a firm engaged in buying and selling merchandise, at a fixed place of business, at No. 427 Harrison Street, in the city of Oakland, county of Alameda, State of California, and that as such merchant the said detained sought a prior examination of his status as such Chinese merchant, and that in accordance and compliance therewith the Commissioner of Immigration for the port and district of San Francisco, received and examined the said application and approved the same, and upon the departure of the said detained from the United States out of the port of San Francisco the said Commissioner of Immigration issued to the detained a Merchants' Form 431, Approved Departing Merchant's Certificate; and that upon the conclusion of the visit of the said detained in China he returned to the port of San Francisco during the months of May, June or July, 1914, and made application to re-enter the United States as a resident Chinese merchant, lawfully domiciled therein, and that the Commissioner of Immigration for the port and district of San Francisco, and the immigration authorities under the said Commissioner did order and permit the said detained to enter the United States, under the provisions of both the General Immigration Law, hereinbefore referred to, and the said Chinese Restriction or Exclusion Acts, hereinbefore generally referred to, and which are particularly described as the act of Congress of May 6th, 1882, as amended and added to by the act of July 5th, 1884, the act of September 13th, 1888, the act of November 3d, 1893, and the acts supplemental thereto and in amendment thereof.

Your petitioner further alleges upon his information and [5] belief that the said Secretary of Labor made a mistake in interpreting and construing the said Acts of Congress, hereinbefore referred to as the Chinese Restriction or Exclusion Acts, and has held that this detained could be deported because he has labored since his re-entry into the United States, notwithstanding the fact that it was established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration for the port and district of San Francisco, that the said detained was a merchant, as defined in said Chinese Restriction or Exclusion Acts for a year prior to his departure for China, and in this connection your petitioner alleges upon his information and belief that the said detained was for a year prior to his departure for China a merchant as defined and described in said Chinese Restriction or Exclusion Acts, and that he submitted the class and kind of evidence as required in said acts to the Commissioner of Immigration for the port and district of San Francisco. That your petitioner therefore alleges that the action of the said Secretary of Labor in ordering the detained deported because he had labored since he was admitted into the United States was and is in violation of law, and the warrant of deportation thereon is for said reason null and void.

That your petitioner further alleges upon his information and belief that the alleged hearing upon which the said warrant of deportation was issued by the Secretary of Labor was unfair in this, that there was not evidence in said record to sustain the conclusion and finding of the Secretary of Labor that the detained is a Chinese alien who had entered the United States in violation of the said Chinese Restriction or Exclusion Acts, and had practiced fraud upon the immigration authorities in procuring his re-entry into the United States as hereinbefore in this petition set forth, and the conclusion of the said Secretary that the said detained, [6] when he re-entered the United States as a returning Chinese merchant, did so fraudulently, is unsupported by the evidence and said conclusion or finding of the said Secretary rests upon conjecture and suspicion and not upon evidence, and that there was no substantial or other evidence to sustain the said order of deportation made by the said Secretary, and that for said reason the said order of deportation is arbitrary and unfair and subject to judicial review.

That your petitioner, Quan Hen is a friend of the said detained, and makes this petition upon his behalf, for the reason that the said detained is in the custody, as aforesaid, and is for said reason unable to verify the said petition personally, and, therefore, your petitioner, as his next friend, verifies the said petition upon his behalf. That your affiant has not in his possession a copy of the immigration record or hearing used as a basis or foundation for the issuance of the said warrant of deportation herein against the said detained. That the said hearing took place in the State of Alabama, and that there is no copy of said record within the jurisdiction of this Court, and that it is impossible for your petitioner to obtain a copy thereof to file with this petition. That upon the information and belief of your petitioner the only copy of said hearing is in the office of the Secretary of Labor, in Washington, D. C., and in the office of the immigration authorities in the State of Alabama, or where said hearing was conducted, and that the said detained has just been brought within the jurisdiction of this Court for the purpose of being deported as hereinbefore set forth, and that sufficient time have not elapsed between the bringing of the said detained within the jurisdiction of this Court and the contemplated deportation to enable your petitioner to procure a copy of said immigration [7] record, and to delay the filing of the petitioner herein until a copy thereof could be obtained would render it impossible to present the petition to this Court in time to prevent the deportation herein sought to be prevented.

WHEREFORE YOUR PETITIONER PRAYS, that a Writ of Habeas Corpus issue herein, as prayed for, directed to the said Commissioner commanding him to have the body of the said detained, together with the time and cause of his detention before your Honor at a time and place to be therein, in said order specified, to the end that the cause of the detention of the said detained may be enquired into, and that he may be discharged from custody.

Assignment of Errors.

Comes now Quan You (otherwise known as Low June), by his attorney, George A. McGowan, Esquire, in connection with his petition, for an appeal herein, assign the following errors which he avers occurred upon the trial or hearing of the above-entitled cause, and upon which he will rely, upon appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals, for the Ninth Circuit, to wit:

First. That the Court erred in denying the petition for a writ of habeas corpus herein.

Second. The Court erred in holding that it had no jurisdiction to issue a writ of habeas corpus, as prayed for in the petition herein.

Third. That the Court erred in not holding that the allegation contained in the petition herein, for a writ of habeas corpus, were sufficient in law, to justify the granting and issuing of a writ of habeas corpus, as prayed for in said petition.

Fourth. That the Court erred in holding that the immigration authorities had accorded the appellant a fair hearing in the executive deportation proceeding.

Fifth. That the Court erred in not holding that the Secretary of Labor could not issue a warrant of arrest without reasonable cause and not supported by oath of affirmation. [16]

Sixth. That the Court erred in holding that a Chinese person could be tried for being illegally within the United States, in violation of the Chinese Exclusion Laws, under the method and gauge as provided in sections 21 and 22 of the General Immigration Law.

Seventh. That the Court erred in holding that the Secretary of Labor had jurisdiction in an executive deportation proceeding against the appellant, a Chinese person charged with a violation of the Chinese Exclusion and Restriction Acts and not having been charged with a violation of the General Immigration Law.

WHEREFORE, the appellant prays that the judgment and order of the United States District Court, in and for the Northern District of the State of California, made and entered herein in the office of the clerk of the said Court on the 14th day of November, 1916, discharging the order to show cause and dismissing the petition for a writ of habeas corpus, be reversed and that this cause be remitted to the said lower court with instructions to discharge the said Quan You (otherwise known as Low June) from custody, or grant him a new trial before the lower court, by directing the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus, as prayed for in said petition.
